

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Relevant and useful types of data, such as telephone numbers, are identified and highlighted on a downloaded web page in a web browser. The browser user may click on a particular instance of the type of data highlighted in order to perform an activity or operation with it, such as, in the case of a highlighted telephone number, dialing the telephone number, or storing it in an address book.